Ike Invites World Check Fallout From Next U.S. Big Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that if this country ever tests another big nuclear bomb he will invite "any country in the world" to be on hand and see for itself that radioactive fallout has been reduced toward the vanishing point.

Eisenhower also told a news conference his scientific advisers favor telling the Russians or anyone else exactly how to make a "clean" bomb once this country proves it knows how.

The President spoke out firmly and with a touch of indignation in denying the United States has grown a bit half-hearted in seeking disarmament agreement with the Russians since U. S. scientists have said a hydrogen bomb completely "clean" of fallout can be developed.

Eisenhower declared his administration will "always" stand by its offer to try for a suspension of nuclear tests—even though, he said, there would be scientific advantage in continuing to test such weapons.

Turning to domestic affairs, the chief executive frowned on a proposal by Sen. Russell (D-Ga) that the administration's civil rights bill be submitted to a nationwide popular vote.

Up To Congress

Eisenhower said there's nothing in the Constitution providing for such a step-that it's up to elected Congress, to decide on legislation.

The President said, too, he doesn't understand fears voiced by Southerners that his right-to-vote bill is, as Russell put it in a Senate speech Tuesday, a "cunning device" to force racial intermingling at bayonet point.

Eisenhower declined to commit himself on several questions.

He said, for instance, it's too early to tell whether the $6-a-ton price increase announced by U.S. Steel—just after the President urged both industry and labor to go easy on price and wage increases—was justified or would prove inflationary.

Fear 1,000 Killed In Iran Earthquake

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Rescue teams roving the still trembling area feared Wednesday that Tuesday's quake killed more than 1,000 persons.

The known death toll soared to 750.

More than 3,000 persons were missing from ruined villages that marked the quake's horseshoeshaped path around the southern end of the Caspian Sea from Soviet Turkmen to Soviet Azerbaijan. However, many of these were presumed to have sought safety in the open fields and woods.

Official statistics pictured havoc and misery as mild after-shock tremors persisted: more than 100 villages wrecked; 1,500 persons seriously injured; property damage estimated at more than 12½ million dollars.

Wire lines were down and avalanches blocked roads, leaving runners and horsemen as the only means of communication throughout much of the affected 50,000 square miles.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, on vacation in Switzerland with Queen Soraya, cabled orders for measures.

The grimmest note of the day's rescue efforts came from two villages unmentioned in early accounts of the quake. These were Tighband and Sangchal. Both were completely razed. In the ruins, rescue workers found 400 bodies.

The quake appeared the most deadly since a trembler killed 1,409 persons in north Algeria in September 1954.

The path of death and damage seemed to extend into the Soviet Union on both sides of the Caspian. But there was no word from the Russians on what happened north of the border.

Death Estimate From Hurricane Rises To 700

LAKE CHARLES, La., (AP)—When the waters of Hurricane Audrey seep back into the now calm Gulf of Mexico and her full ravages are revealed, the Louisiana coast may count about 700 dead.

The latest official estimate put the figure that high, Sheriff Ham Reid of Calcasieu Parish told reporters Wednesday there are 296 known dead.

Dr. Harry Snatic, the parish coroner, quickly added: "I think at least 400 more persons are missing."

Any accurate total of dead, however, has become more complicated by a new plan to bury the dead of nearby Cameron Parish wherever they are found.

As the death estimate mounted, the property damage total, also soared. Carl Durett of Lake Charles, head of General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., which handles insurance claims, put the expected property damage to the state at between 75 and 100 million dollars.

Also mounting was uncertainty over when and how the city of Cameron will be rebuilt.

The tiny fishing town on the Gulf if not liveable now.

Of the known dead, 112 are unidentified, and Cameron refugees have become reluctant to pass in front of the pine boxes holding those bodies still not buried.

Donald Stout, in charge of Red Cross relief for victims of Hurricane Audrey, said his agency was prepared to provide money to refugees for food, clothing, medical care, burials, home repair, home rebuilding, furniture and those tools that a person needs for his livelihood.

Dr. Snatic interrupted Stout's accounting of Red Cross help to criticize the federal government for allowing the private agency to bear the brunt of disaster relief.

"The federal government has been sending all kinds of money abroad," the coroner said. "It seems to me charity begins at home. Then we can send abroad what is left."

Tackle Box Clue In Bombing

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A clue supplied by the FBI in the bombing of an alderman's home had police hunting today for the purchaser of a green fishing tackle box.

Chief Thomas P. Boustead of Rockford police said fragments of the container holding the bomb were sent to the FBI laboratories where its manufacturer was determined. Boustead declined to identify the manufacturer of the tackle box but said the company has only a few outlets in Rockford.

Police were questioning employes in those outlets to see whether they remember to whom they recently sold such a box.

Mrs. Alma Anderson, 61, wife of Ald. Eric Anderson, was injured in the bombing June 18. The blast tore away a leg and an arm and she is in critical condition in a hospital.

Rewards for the capture of the bomber now stand at $10,000. An anonymous donor put up $3,000 to the fund Tuesday night.

Long Holiday Starts With Two Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long Independence Day holiday period began Wednesday night with thousands of motorists on the roads.

The National Safety Council estimated that 45 million motor vehicles—13 for each mile of the nation's road and street network—will be moving sometime or other during the four-day observance.

NCS predicted 535 Americans will be killed in traffic accidents during the extended weekend that began at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

That many deaths would set a new record for the Fourth of July holiday period. The current high mark—491—was set during a four day celebration of Independence Day in 1950.

Up to 10 p. m. (DST) the death toll was two—one traffic and one miscellaneous.

Motor vehicle deaths so far this year have failed to match last year's high rate. Through the first five months of 1957 fatalities have averaged 95 per day.

The Associated Press made a survey of a recent nonholiday period to establish a statistical basis for comparison with the loss of life during the current holiday period.

There were 347 traffic deaths in the survey period—from 6 p. m. Wednesday June 19 to midnight Sunday June 23.

Little Known Facts About Signers Of Declaration Of Independence

WASHINGTON (AP) — In all Fourth of July oratorical fireworks Thursday probably no one even will mention Button Gwinnett, George Clymer or Josiah Bartlett.

Yet they signed the Declaration of Independence, too.

And this is a good time to recall that along with the well - known signers—men like Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Benjamin Franklin—others also risked their necks, their families and their fortunes.

It's hard to reconstruct the exciting, and dangerous, scene as it was then.

John Dickinson of Pennsylvania after working so steadily for independence (he was called the "penman of the revolution,") balked when the great moment came. He steadfastly refused to sign.

It's almost forgotten now that maybe a third of the population remained loyal to England and many more hoped for a reconciliation.

George Clymer of Pennsylvania, a member of a delegation that was lukewarm at best toward the declaration, boldly signing anyway. Immediately his home was sacked and destroyed by a mob infuriated at his signing.

Button Gwinnett of Georgia who signed his name so rarely that it's highly prized among those who collect such things, going home to plunge into politics and squabbles. Before the year was out he was dead, killed not by the enemy, but by Gen. Lachlan McIntosh, in a duel.

Josiah Bartlett of New Hampshire, a patriot so enthusiastic that "he made the rafters shake with the loudness of his approval," falling into disapproval with fellow members of his medical society. He was accused of malpractices, largely because he came up with a wonderful cure for the fevers.

Bartlett prescribed cider.

Despite criticism, "he stuck to his dose, and his cures quickly established him as a leader in his profession."

Hint Civil Rights Filibuster Will Tie Up Other Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Southern Democrat hinted Wednesday that much of President Eisenhower's legislative program might go down the drain while the Senate is battling over civil rights.

The way Sen. Robertson (D-Va) put it was that the Republicans, if they insist on a showdown on civil rights, must shoulder the responsibility for putting through the rest of the program in the waning session.

The GOP is in the minority in both the Senate and House.

Robertson discussed the situation after Eisenhower rejected the idea of having his civil rights program passed on in a national referendum. The President told his news conference he didn't know of any provisions in the Constitution for putting the question up to the people in such a way.

Robertson said a statement on GOP responsibility will probably be made on the Senate floor Friday by Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Southern opposition to civil rights legislation.

Behind the Southern Democratic maneuvering was a threat of a Senate filibuster on the civil rights bill which could suspend all other legislative business there for weeks.

Eisenhower expressed his referendum views when asked about Russell's proposal to submit the civil rights issue to a national vote.

On such issues as civil rights, the President said, he thinks "that the Constitution contemplates that there are responsible officials within the federal government that have to act."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's GOP leader, says he intends to call up the civil rights bill Monday.

Several reporters asked the President questions Wednesday about civil rights and the possibility of a referendum.

The House passed the administration's civil rights program 286-126 June 18.

Hodge's Plane Purchased By Memphis Firm

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A Memphis firm Wednesday purchased the lavishly equipped twin-engine plane once owned by imprisoned ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The General Pipe and Supply Co. entered the successful bid of $50,260, said George Gillespie, an attorney serving as chief agent in disposal of Hodge property.

Hodge was sentenced to 12 to 15 years in prison last summer for theft of some 2½ million dollars in state funds. He had used much of the stolen money for a round of high living.

The airplane, fully equipped with radar and plush seats, is a Cessna 310. It was appraised by Hodge property agents at $45,000.

The money from sales of Hodge property will be returned to the state as partial repayment for his thefts. So far, the state has recovered more than a million dollars.

Gillespie said Aug. 3 has been set for an auction sale of Hodge's 270 - acre farm in Montgomery County, Mo., 90 miles northwest of St. Louis. Included in this property are 204 Aberdeen-Angus cattle, farm machinery and personal effects.

Another auction is scheduled for sometime in August, Gillespie said, on nine tracts of land once owned by Hodge in Granite City, Ill., his home town.

Ike Allocates Uranium For Use In Peace Projects

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday allocated about a billion dollars worth of uranium for use in "atoms - for-peace" projects here and abroad.

The government will sell or lease the uranium but won't give it away. The President said all distributions will be subject to "prudent safeguards" against diversion into weapons.

Eisenhower added to the stock pile set aside for peaceful atomic uses about 131,560 pounds of uranium 235, which he termed "the basic atomic fuel."

This allocation will be distributed evenly between users in this country and abroad.

The total amount of uranium now earmarked for the atoms-for peace program is about 220,000 pounds. Eisenhower estimated this to be worth about $1,700,000,000 at current prices, fixed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss simultaneously disclosed that the United States only Wednesday signed agreements with Germany and Italy under which this country can provide fuel for power reactors in those countries. Previously the United States provided Germany and Italy with uranium for experimental reactors, rather than for full-fledged power plants.

The uranium is leased to licensed civilian users in this country—mostly for power reactors—and is sold or leased to foreign nations or groups of nations with which this country has agreements for cooperation.

Malenkov, Molotov, Two Others Charged With Anti-Party Policy

MOSCOW (Thursday) (AP) — The Kremlin has expelled Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. M. Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov from their high posts in the Soviet Communist party. They were accused of collusion and intrigue against the party's leadership.

Apparently the Central Committee stopped short of the severe penalty of expelling them from the Communist party, as some committee members had urged. Instead, it expelled them from the Central Committee and the Presidium — Politburo.

The Central Committee elected a new Presidium including Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, World War II hero of Moscow, and Mrs. Ekaterina Furtseva, the first woman on the ruling party body.

Tass said Mrs. Furtseva made the announcement of this far-reaching shakeup to a mass meeting of Communist party members, apparently convened in the Kremlin, explaining that the four accused had been decisively condemned for anti-party activities "directed at breaking up the party."

Other Demotions

The list of new Presidium members indicated that Maxim Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, two leading economic and industrial experts of the Soviet Union, also had been demoted. They were not listed as members or alternates of the new Presidium, although the official communique did not mention them in connection with offenses against the party.

The newly elected Presidium—successor to the Politburo of Stalin's day — included the names of only six of the 11-member group elected in February 1956.

Biggest Shakeup Since 1953

The event, evidently the biggest shakeup since Stalin died in 1953, was foreshadowed by an angry editorial in Pravda Tuesday warning that no man was too big to be expelled from the party. Whether the four leading offenders keep their present jobs in the government, as differentiated from the party, remains to be seen.

Malenkov and Molotov, both former premiers; Kaganovich, a first deputy premier and industrial expert, and Shepilov, a propaganda expert and former foreign minister, were dropped from the Presidium, the most powerful body in the U.S.S.R., and from the party Central Committee. Shepilov was fired as an alternate member of the Presidium and from his post as one of the party's secretaries.

Six Holdovers

The six holdovers in the Presidium are Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Ukraine party boss A. I. Kirichenko, party First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev, the trade expert and deputy premier, A. I. Mikoyan, the party theoretician, M. A. Suslov, and the old Soviet warhorse, Marshal Klimenti Voroshilov, who is president of the U.S.S.R.

Former Minister

Molotov, former foreign minister, has been minister of state control recently. Malenkov has been minister of electric power stations. Kaganovich held a job in the control of labor, and Shapilov in party propaganda work.

The decision on them was reached June 29.

Appeal For Evidence On Bribery Charges To Pass Jai Alai Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State's Atty. Waldo Ackerman Jr. of Sangamon County Wednesday appealed for information concerning possible attempts at bribery of state legislators to aid passage of the controversial jai alai bill.

Ackerman asked "any Legislators or newspapermen or anyone else having information concerning these matters to come forward and make such information available to this office."

His appeal followed a publication of a story in a Chicago newspaper in which an unnamed representative was quoted as saying he was offered money to vote favorably on the bill.

The bill, which cleared the Legislature last Friday, would permit legalized gambling in Illinois on the Spanish game, pronounced "hie-lie."

Ackerman said he would turn over "any information or evidence received concerning these charges" immediately to a grand jury. He also scheduled a conference next Monday with Charles Cleveland of the Chicago Daily News, who has indicated in a story that bribes were offered.

John E. Howarth, Ackerman's first assistant, was appointed to head an investigation into the reports.

The state's attorney's action came in the midst of a growing furor over the measure. At least a dozen legislators protested the bill's passage last week and said they would urge Gov. Stratton to veto it.

Stratton is due to return to his desk Friday, a spokesman said, following a vacation in the East. The spokesman added Stratton would probably not consider the measure before next week.

The governor's office reported a flood of mail on the subject, virtually all of it requesting his veto. The office said the jai alai mail was the heaviest received on any issue this session except for school legislation.

Under provisions of the bill, operators of the sport would contribute 5 per cent of pari-mutuel and admissions revenue toward support of the public schools. The bill also specifies that only one jai alai fronton, or stadium, may be located within any 100-mile area.

97 ARRESTS FOR VIOLATION OF NEW SPEED LAW

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State Police Chief William Morris Wednesday reported 97 arrests or warning for violations of the two-day-old state speed limits.

Morris based his figures on reports from 13 of 14 districts throughout the state. They cover two 24-hour periods, from midnight to midnight July 1 and 2.

Santa Fe, New Mexico, was founded in 1610.

To Electrocute Kidnap-Killer Of Winberger Baby

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—New York State's highest court Wednesday upheld the conviction of Angelo LaMarca for the kidnap-murder of baby Peter Winberger and ordered him electrocuted the week of Aug. 19.

LaMarca, 31, took the 32-day old baby from the Winberger home in Westbury, L. I., last July 4 and later abandoned him in a thicket, where the body was found.

At the trial, LaMarca pleaded insanity.

The Court of Appeals Wednesday reaffirmed the verdict and death sentence, which is to be carried out in Sing Sing Prison. Executions at Sing Sing normally are on Thursday nights.

NAB TWO YOUTHS CHARGED WITH ROBBING VFW HOME

TRENTON, Ill. (AP)—Two youths burglarized the VFW home here early Wednesday, the second robbery in four days, but police aided by an airplane captured them shortly after noon.

Sheriff Henry Klutho said one of the boys, Billy Gene Bracken, 19, of East St. Louis, Ill., was seized by state police after a state police airplane from Springfield spotted him on nearby railroad tracks.

The other youth arrested by Collinsville police was identified as Anthony Wayne Carrumba of Collinsville.

Klutho said both youths had taken part in the burglary, and were driving a stolen truck in a getaway attempt when police and vigilanties blocked them. The boys got an undetermined amount of money from the VFW home, Sheriff Klutho said.

See Soviet Party Purge As Omen For Peace In Our Time

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev may finally have succeeded in burying Stalin. If he has, it is a good omen for peace in our time.

The removal of Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich, V. M. Molotov and others from the ruling party Presidium, and the makeup of the new membership, indicate a mighty Khrushchev victory. They suggest the party itself has had a bellyful of Stalinism.

Those formerly humiliated by the Stalinists now will run the show. Those responsible for such dark deeds as assisting Stalin in his latter-day oriental plotting have been pushed out. The shakeup has these overtones:

First, it appears to be a showdown between the Stalinists and the anti-Stalinists in the Kremlin.

Second, it suggests there has been a bitter quarrel over Khrushchev's program to reorganize the Soviet economy. Khrushchev seems to have won.

Third, the elevation of Marshal Georgi Zhukov to full membership in the Presidium suggests confirmation of the steadily increasing — and steadying—influence of the Soviet army in Kremlin politics. Along with him, however, there will be others in the Presidium representing a more modern Soviet Union and a more moderate outlook. All this is a conservative influence which turns away from rash risks.

Thus far this purge is not a bloody one, like Stalin's or those of the post-Stalin era in which police boss Beria and his alleged accomplices were dispatched. The violence of Pravda's language in denouncing the oppositionists, however, hints the victors in this struggle have an ominous threat to hold over the heads of any dissenters.

Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and the others who are humiliated may be roughly handled from the point of view of their humiliation, but it seems doubtful this shakeup will go so far as to spill the blood of men who have held high posts in the so-called "collective leadership."

However, the indications in the Soviet press are that this purge is likely to go deep. Having rooted out Stalinists at the top, Khrushchev and his followers must also root them out in the party ranks.

Then Khruschev will be in an entrenched position to go ahead with his vast plan for reorganizing

U.N. Ends Fairy Tale

Using its celebrated technique of the "big lie," the Soviet Union has sought systematically over the intervening months to warp and distort and finally to whitewash its cruel suppression last fall of the Hungarian revolt against Kremlin rule.

According to Russia's copper-riveted myth, the allegedly "legal" Hungarian government of Janos Kadar "invited" the Soviet army into Hungary to restore order. Again, according to the official line, this army did no more than the bare minimum in using force to achieve that objective.

Repeated enough, this tale may well have begun to have some takers among gullible millions of neutrals and other uncommitted folk around the globe. Countless among these tend to take with a heavy dose of salt the accounts in Western newspapers which we accept as reliable.

But now the myth has been devastatingly blasted by the United Nations itself. All its prestige reinforces the withering indictment it lays against the Soviet Union in destroying, piece by piece, the Kremlin's fantasy in whitewash.

The report by a five-member U.N. committee said flatly that the Red army in crushing the revolt was "all-powerful, pitiless and unabashed by any shameful act." Some deeds of brutality it found so shocking it refused to detail them in the report.

The committee said the Hungarian uprising was a spontaneous internal rebellion not spurred by outsiders in any measure. It said the government set up as a result of the revolt was legal and had the support of the Hungarian people.

This government did not invite the Russian armed forces into Hungary. They came, said the U.N. group, at the instigation of the Kremlin. After they deposed the legal government there was no successor government for a considerable period. In this interim, the investigators said, the Red army was Hungary's only government.

When the Kadar government was installed, it was not done in response to demand from the Hungarian people. It was an act dictated in Moscow.

This report—scrupulous, judicious, factual—ought to kill for all time a Soviet fairy tale that was designed to blot out of the world's memory one of the most ruthless suppressions in modern history. The U.N. has boldly etched the true story in indestructible stone.

. . . And Many Happy Returns!

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Lewis, who makes more per hour being funny than the average man does per year being serious, says any mother can raise her boy to be a comedian.

"He can at least learn to be a taught comedian," said Jerry, "and probably make a good living just standing up and reeling off memorized jokes.

"Show business is full of such imposters."

Lewis, who has just completed his first solo film, "The Delicate Delinquent," believes the public often fails to realize that humor, like love, comes in many varieties.

Leaving the field of love to those more expert, Jerry went on to give these views on humor:

"The big difference in the field is between the taught comedian and the natural funnyman.

"The taught comedian is imitative, and has no born talent. Often he is extremely witty, but his humor comes second-hand. He generally pokes fun at others, and is often cruel. At the back of his mind he is always desperately thinking, 'What'll I do next?' He has to, because most of his humor is contrived, or borrowed.

"But a born funnyman's humor is compulsive. He holds himself up to ridicule, realizing it's easier for people to laugh at someone else than it is for them to laugh at themselves. He is also more spontaneous and creative in any situation — less dependent on others for material."

Either through a sense of kindliness — or a well-ingrained sense of self-preservation — Jerry declined to name the outstanding "taught comedians" practicing the healing art of yuk merchandising today. But he had no hesitancy in reeling off a few comics, past and present, whom he regards as "naturally funnymen."

"In the silent films Charlie Chaplin — the greatest ever — and Harry Langdon were outstanding," he said. "So was W.C. Fields. So are Jackie Gleason and Milton Berle. Berle is a past master."

Lewis modestly forbore saying which class he regarded himself as belonging to other than by cheerfully observing in passing, "I am a born idiot."

In 21 years, however, he has parlayed this natural defect (if it is one, as non-Lewis fans claim into one of the highest-rewarded talents for any antics since mankind started paying money to be amused).

Everyone now is familiar with the trials and tribulations of all the sad comedians, behind whose million-dollar bank accounts lurk many a broken heart.

Jerry, who wears his heart as well as his funnybone on his sleeve, has some to tell, too.

For example, the time when, driving through the countryside, he suddenly felt he was undergoing a heart attack (he has suffered mild ticker murmurs since his youth). Frantically he sought out the nearest doctor, beat on his door, and gasped out his fears.

"You know what happened?" asked Jerry. "The Doc turned and called back to his wife, 'mama, come here. Here's Jerry Lewis playing a trick!'

"I had a terrible time getting him to give me a real examination. Luckily, all I had was indigestion. But what if it had been the real thing?"

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Holiday notes and comment:

Fireworks may be missing in your town on this Fourth of July, but the film industry is doing its best to celebrate the holiday with a bang.

Theaters do their biggest business on holidays, and no holiday looms more attractive than the Fourth. Reason: schools are out, top TV shows are off the air, folks are looking for entertainment, and hot weather might send them to air-conditioned movie houses.

In the Los Angeles area, you can attend such top attractions as "The Pride and the Passion," "Gun fight at O. K. Corral," "Sweet Smell of Success," "Beau James," "Man on Fire," "The Prince and the Showgirl," "Fire Down Below," "Love in the Afternoon."

That's a cool 20 million dollars' worth of celluloid, and it's all looking desperately for customers. Who would ever have thought the movies would become a seasonal business? . . . .

Headline of the week (over Variety's story on how perfumed products were splurging on TV time): "Sweet Success of Smell."

Ghost of Andrew Mellon Hovers Over Humphrey Quiz

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— What is happening to Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey these days is highly deminiscent of what happened to the late Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury from 1921 to 1932 under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Democratic strategy in attacking the men responsible for fiscal policies in the Republican administrations is much the same in both cases. Both Humphrey and Mellon stood for a businessman's type of government, with lowered taxes, greater economy and a balanced budget in periods of high prosperity.

Both were the richest men in government— though Humphrey's 12-million-dollar holdings make him a small businessman, a piker, when compared to Mellon's 300 million.

Curiously enough, the attacks in both cases, 25 years apart, were led by other millionaires.

IT WAS THE late Sen. James Couzens of Michigan who led the assault on Mellon's fiscal policies after the 1929 crash. Before that, it was Texas Jack Garner who had blocked Mellon's effort to put a 25 per cent ceiling on income taxes.

In the Humphrey case, it is Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia apple millionaire, who is chairman of the current Senate Finance Committee probe of fiscal policies. One of his principal allies is Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, millionaire oil man, who boasts openly that this is a political probe.

Actually, there is no parallel between the way Humphrey has conducted fiscal policy and the way Mellon ran it.

In the 11 years that Mellon headed the treasury, tax rebates of over 3.5 billion dollars were given to American business firms. Mellon's own companies got 1.3 billion.

In apparent retaliation for exposing a whole chain of events like these, the government filed a suit against Senator Couzens to recover 11 million dollars from his sale of Ford Company stocks for over 40 millions. Couzens won this suit.

IT WAS A CHARGE by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) that finally forced Mr. Mellon out of Washington. The charge was that Mellon had used his official position to influence Colombian government policies. Shortly thereafter one of the Mellon oil companies bought the rich Barco field for 115 million dollars.

Mellon denied the charge and said he had no knowledge of the deal. But with the depression creating so much chaos in Washington, the political climate became to unhealthy for the 77-year-old Mellon. President Hoover named his ambassador to London in February, 1932, and named Ogden L. Mills as his successor for the remainder of the year. Patman's probe was then dropped.

The late Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, a Theodore Roosevelt Progressive, was to declare later that the Mellon fiscal policies brought on the depression.

CERTAINLY IT was the aftermath of all these disclosures which contributed to President Hoover's defeat in 1932.

It is in the hope of developing such political ammunition for 1958 and 1960 that the Democrats now probe Humphrey fiscal policies. There is no suspicions of any personal wrongdoing in Humphrey's stewardship at treasury. He is leaving this position voluntarily in the near future with no sign of a depression to be charged with.

But the theme of what's up may have been indicated in a letter to the newspapers by Prof. Seymour Harris, chairman of Harvard's economics department:

He accuses the secretary of having failed to achieve any of his fundamental objectives since federal expenses are now higher, interest rates are up and inflation highest in peacetime.

Harris concludes that, "Not the 72-billion-dollar budget, but the lack of comprehension of modern economics such as shown by Secretary Humphrey might bring on a hair-curling depression.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a good chance the Supreme Court—judging from what it has already said—will throw out any law Congress passes now to keep a defendant on trial from seeing FBI files pertaining to his case.

The court—ruling in the case of Clinton E. Jencks in June—said "justice requires no less" than that a defendant see the files if they contain information bearing on the testimony of a witness against him.

The FBI and the Justice Department were so upset by this decision that Congress is rushing through a bill to tone down the effect of what the court did.

But if this bill becomes law some future defendant — denied a look at the FBI files — is bound to test its validity by appealing to the Supreme Court. This is what happened:

Jencks, on trial for falsely swearing he was not a Communist was confronted by two government witnesses who were not only Communists but paid undercover agents of the FBI.

They said they had given the FBI information about Jencks verbally and in writing. Their written information was in the FBI files.

A defendant has a right to try to impeach the testimony of a witness against him by trying to show he lied or had a bad memory. One way to try in this case was to compare the witnesses' testimony with what they wrote to the FBI.

It was traditional, but not a law, that a defendant himself couldn't see the FBI files. It was also traditional, but not a law, that he could ask the trial judge to look at them.

The reason: If the judge found anything in the files that might help the defendant, or discredit the witness, he could let that part of the FBI file become part of the evidence and therefore open to the defendant.

Jencks' lawyers asked the trial judge to do that. He refused. Jencks was found guilty and appealed to the Supreme Court. The court threw out his conviction. The ruling it gave is what upset the FBI and Justice Department.

The court said a defendant—not the judge—had a right to the first look at the FBI files. The court didn't say the defendant had a hunting license to roam at will through the files.

It said a defendant has a right to see FBI file information supplied by witnesses used against him when it touches on "the subject matter of their testimony at his trial."

The FBI wanted no part of that. And there was the possibility in the future that lower court judges, interpreting the Supreme Court's decision in varying ways, might give defendants wide latitude in searching the files.

To undo what the court did—and for the first time to say it in law instead of depending on tradition—Congress is considering a bill which says:

Any looking through FBI files will be done by the trial judge, not by the defendant. If the judge finds anything that will help the defendant, he can let the defendant see it.

If the government refuses to let the defendant see it — after the judge says he can—the judge can strike out all the testimony by the witness who supplied the secret information or declare a mistrial.

But the Supreme Court in the Jencks case clearly said — and it's hard to see how the court can reverse itself on this point — that:

"Because only the defense is adequately equipped to determine the effective use for the purpose of discrediting the government's witness and thereby furthering the accused's defense, the defense must initially be entitled to see them (reports in the FBI files) to determine what use may be made of them. Justice requires no less."

But suppose the government says that letting the defendant see the files would endanger the national welfare? In that event, the Supreme Court said, the government must drop its case against the defendant.

Blood Vessel Diseases Growing More Important

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
... Written for NEA Service ...

An interesting fact book on hardening of the arteries and its complications has been sent me by the National Health Education Committee.

Possibly most readers of this column understand that hardening of the arteries and arteriosclerosis mean the same thing. Perhaps, however, it is not so clear that this thickening and narrowing of the arteries is responsible for a variety of symptoms. These include "heart attacks," "strokes" and damage to the brain, kidneys and other parts of the body which are supplied by narrowed blood vessels.

Diseases Resulting from hardening of the arteries have always been important, but are more so today. If we do not die in youth from diphtheria or typhoid, for example, more of us live longer to the age when arteriosclerosis and other disorders of the later years of life will inevitably afflict us. Thus today, taken as a group, there are more deaths from heart and blood vessel disease than from any other single cause.

Aside from the threat to life of hardening of the arteries, many people become disabled each year from the effects of this process. Some develop angina pectoris; others have heart attacks. Some have strokes and there are other complications as well.

Furthermore, there is a terrific economic loss from blood vessel disease. If a breadwinner is no longer able to work because of some manifestation of arteriosclerosis, he and his family suffer. Also there is lack of production and the considerable cost on those who are still healthy of supporting the victim.

The need to learn more about prevention of arteriosclerosis and the effects which it causes is urgent. Some figures on this are illuminating.

Only $2,351,000 is spent each year in research on arteriosclerosis, high blood pressure and brain disease resulting from blood vessel disorders. This contrasts with 121 million dollars spent annually on agricultural research. At the same time we spend almost 100 million dollars a year for face creams, over 27 million dollars for men's package toiletry sets and vast sums for alcohol and tobacco.

Thus, if we would save untold misery, as well as improve the economic picture, we should speed up research on arteriosclerosis and related disorders. This takes money as well as the devotion of skilled investigators.

If Hubby Runs You Down, Pay Him Back in Same Coin

One of the meanest tricks a husband can pull is to try to make his wife feel inferior and to sell the world the idea that she isn't very bright.

Some men achieve this effect by victimizing their wives with their so-called humor. If their wives resent being made fun of, they are told they just don't have a sense of humor.

Other husbands tear down their wives by carping criticism.

The wife of such a man writes: "This may sound silly, but my husband makes me miserable because he is always telling me how stupid and dumb I am, particularly when we are around his relatives. Is there any way I can get him to stop?"

First of all, stop squirming when he sets out to make you squirm. Don't try to explain or justify yourself when he finds faults with you.

REVERSE PROCEDURE

But the next time he tries to make you look stupid before his family or your friends, just look him in the eye and say, "Speaking of being stupid, let me tell you about the stunt George pulled the other day."

Then recount word for word the latest dumb trick your husband has pulled. You'll be able to think of one because everybody does stupid things at times.

When the evening is over ask your husband if he wants to go on talking about how dumb you are and let you low-rate him in return.

Or would he rather give you a build-up and let you talk about how smart he is?

The man who likes to make others feel small and stupid can't bear to be made to feel that way himself. That's your salvation.

Don't hesitate to give what you get. It probably won't be long until you are getting a build-up.

Chilled Soups Furnish Hot-Weather Pickups

CHILLED SOUP like this tomato garnished with cucumber can serve to revive appetites that wilt in the summer doldrums.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Even though the thermometer soars, your body still needs good nourishment. But the appetite, of course, needs a pickup and that's where chilled soups are important.

Here are two excellent chilled soup recipes that illustrate the versatility of instant nonfat dry milk (also its economy).

Summer Tomato Soup
(Six ¾-cup servings)

Two tablespoons butter, 1 small onion, chopped; 2 cups liquified instant nonfat dry milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce.

Melt butter in top of double boiler; saute onion until tender. Remove from pan. Pour liquified instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Add onions. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened, about 15 minutes. Cool to room temperature. Slowly blend in tomato sauce. Chill in refrigerator about an hour before serving.

Mint Cool Soup (6-8 servings)

One cup water, 1 medium-size onion, finely chopped; 1/3 cup chopped mint, 3 chicken bouillon cubes, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 quart water, 2 (¾ cup) envelopes instant nonfat dry milk powder or 1½ cups instant nonfat dry milk powder.

Combine 1 cup water, onion, mint, bouillon cubes and butter in 6-quart saucepan; summer 10-15 minutes. Place water in shaker or large bowl; sprinkle instant non-fat dry milk powder over surface and stir or shake until dissolved. Add to onion mixture. Chill in refrigerator until serving time.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Summer tomato soup with sliced cucumber garnish, pan-broiled ham steak, frozen potato puffs, corn on cob, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, blueberries, frosted cup cakes, coffee, tea, milk.

Manners Make Friends

If you aren't willing to do all of those things, don't accept the job in the first place.

If You're in Doubt Don't Keep It Secret From Child

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. W. is working to help her husband pay for their home. Recently she asked her 10-year-old son to turn down the volume on the T.V. He said, "Make me." She said, "Don't talk to be so fresh." He retorted, "Why shouldn't I? You're nothing but a cashier in a restaurant."

She writes, "I gave him a good licking. But it hasn't changed anything. He's still as fresh as he can be to me . . ."

He disapproves of you, Mrs. W.

Why does this trouble you? Why, when he gave you his low opinion of your job, did you shove it away so violently by spanking him? Do you yourself doubt its value? Do you have a sneaky feeling that you're cheating your children by working in this restaurant instead of at home?

I think so.

If we feel strong approval of a decision to work outside our home, we don't need children's approval. Attacked as you've been, we'd simply say, "When you want to tell me why you hate my job so much, let me know—and we'll try to straighten it out. In the meantime, please switch off the TV or turn down that volume."

But if we're struggling with secret doubt of our job's value, a child's disparagement of it is more than we can stand. We'll shove it away with blows or furious words.

We want the doubt left secret. We've made the hard decision to work as a restaurant cashier—and don't want to reconsider our own gnawing doubts of its wisdom.

It's terribly relieving to confess them to ourselves.

In your case, Mrs. W., it may be relieving to also confess them to your son. For example, you might say, "I've been thinking of how you despise my work. I'm not certain it's important myself. I want to help Daddy pay for this house—but staying at home with you may be much more important. Why do you think it is?"

It's silly to pose as a perfectly certain person to a child when we aren't. The pose gives us a don't-touch-me, unnatural stiffness that seals our real doubtful self away from him. It's this that makes him "fresh" and impudent. It's his demand for honesty between us.

Thinking It Over—

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Group discipline is particularly effective with people who do not respond to individual reasoning or personal kindness or even authoritative demand. Threats, reprimands, scoldings, criticism and even punishment are less influential in changing behavior than group disapproval or group pressure.

Behavior can be changed a great deal by the pressure of several people who do no more than ignore the person whose actions are not acceptable to the group. All of us like to be liked. We want recognition and social acceptance. We want to be on "the team." We like to be appreciated.

If we gave as much attention to obeying God's rules as we do to seeking social acceptance, we should probably find ourselves with satisfaction in our own minds as well as in social approval. We need self-discipline as well as group discipline.

Firemen Change Plug Threads To 'Standard'

For the past month the firemen have been "standardizing," and Fire Chief Howard Reynolds announced Wednesday that the job is about done.

The threads on the city's nearly 400 fire plugs have been changed to the "Standard 7½," which means there are seven and a half threads to the inch. The threads on the coupling on the fire hose also have been changed.

"Up to the last few years," Chief Reynolds said, "every hose manufacturer and every maker of fire plugs had their own ideas on the proper threads to use. There was no uniformity. But most everybody has come to adopt the seven and a half inch thread as standard, and, in fact nearly all new equipment comes out with it."

Die And Tap Bought

Reynolds recently purchased a used die and tap from Walker Stone, fire equipment salesman living in Springfield, after Stone had completed the job of converting the Roodhouse fire protection system to the standard thread.

Since then two firemen would go out in the morning and change a few plugs, and in the afternoon another couple of men would go and convert some more. The men at the station used the tap to change the threads on hose couplings.

Where They Are

"It has turned out to be quite an educational project, too," Reynolds pointed out. "The men have been working in different parts of town and are more familiar now with plug locations than they were before we started on the job."

He pointed out that fire equipment is coupled "with what we call a 'sloppy fit' to save time in hooking up. The male fitting is a little small and the female is a little large."

Advantages of the changeover are several, the chief explained. "It will take less time and bother in ordering new equipment, and should save a few dollars. The biggest advantage will come in case of a really big fire, when equipment from other towns can come in and hook on without a moment's delay."

Dr. Glen G. Crosbie, veterinarian, said it was the largest dog litter he ever heard of.

Grandmother Says Hooded Men, Women Beat Her

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A 41-year-old grandmother related she was beaten by a group of hooded men and women after she was told "Thou shall not commit adultery."

Mrs. Katie Carpenter, a white woman, said the thrashing was administered in the front yard of her suburban home Saturday night. She told of the incident in an interview Tuesday.

She said her crippled husband Jack Carpenter looked on helplessly as she was held over a chair and whipped with leather straps by two persons she believed were women.

Six of the nine children were in the house asleep at the time.

The beating, she said, bruised her and she has been able to leave her bed only briefly since.

She said she was called to her yard by the masked group which drove up in five or six cars. She said a woman in the group told her: "We're not going to take your word for anything. We are going to teach you a lesson."

No one in the group was familiar, Mrs. Carpenter said, nor did she recognize anyone's voice.

"I was asking God to help me," she related.

She made a report of the beating to officers Monday.

COMMITTEE VOTES FOR FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT FOR STATE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gray (D-Ill) Tuesday reported the House Public Works Committee voted 19-12 to authorize a $5,900,000 flood control project for the Saline River and tributaries in southern Illinois.

Gray said the committee also adopted his amendment to the project in the omnibus navigation-flood control authorization measure reducing the local cash contribution from $980,000, as recommended by Army engineers, to $233,000. The Senate-passed measure contained this reduction in local participation.

Gray said the committee vote was by party lines—19 Democrats for and 12 Republicans against. He said he expects Republican members to attempt to delete the project on the House floor but expressed confidence it will obtain House approval.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

What is so rare as a free man?

In recent years a new term has been devised to describe nations which are not under Communist rule. They are called the "Free World."

Yet only a small proportion of their inhabitants are truly free. Most of them can only say that they do not live under an ideology which can be enforced only by brutality against both the spirits and the bodies of its subject peoples.

Some of them have their independence days. Relatively few have freedom from want and freedom from fear, freedom to change jobs because there are plenty of jobs, freedom to point the feet of their children along new paths of personal progress.

A few hundred years ago there met upon the American continent two great forces. One was the spirit of individual freedom. One was an endowment of natural wealth without which such freedom cannot be fully exercised.

There is a song, "America the Beautiful." There might well be another entitled, in all humility, "America the Blessed."

XXVI

"I DIDN'T have a very good time," Nan was saying, her lips pouted with a remnant of discontent for that spoiled evening. "Ben was acting—silly. Because I'd asked him, you see? He thought it implied that I wanted to be with him.

"So when we danced, he held me much too close and wanted to put his chin down into my neck—and finally I suggested that we walk out on the pier. I knew he'd be silly there, too, but at least we'd be away from all those others, and I could tell him off! So we went out through the veranda, and I saw Valley watching us.

"But I remember I was being more concerned with my full red skirt than anything else when Ben suddenly grabbed me—" She turned and looked earnestly at Garde. "Ben, you know, was the kind of guy to think a girl expected to be kissed whenever she was alone with a man. I don't know that Ben had had much experience with girls. But—well—either he'd heard men say or he'd read that a man must make certain gestures. Anyhow, it happened that when someone, I'm sure by accident, turned on the floodlights, Ben was kissing me. And I was letting him. It was the only thing to do, I thought. Just to stand there and let him. And that's what I was doing, but of course when the lights went on, everybody saw us.

"It was really terrible, Garde. I felt—oh, just awful! All shamed and crawly at the way the thing must have looked. I felt sure that Kurt would know just exactly what was happening, that Ben had made this pass and that I'd stood still rather than make a tussle out of it. But there still was that tableau for everyone to see. Up on the veranda, people cheered and laughed and clapped and—oh, you know the kind of thing they do. Usually it's fun. But that night . . .

"Almost immediately the lights went off again, but I wanted to jump in the water and drown. I didn't feel that I could ever face that crowd again because of the awful thing I'd let happen to Kurt.

"And yet, I wanted to go directly to him; I knew that those others were saying plenty to him. Razzing, teasing, joshing—whatever they might call it. Our engagement was known. And so—there wasn't anything for me to do but go back . . .

• • •

"AS we came up toward the veranda, I do remember Valley's face. And Kurt's—he came down the steps to meet us, and . . . Oh, it wasn't a fight, Garde!

"Kurt said something about Ben's having taken advantage of my friendliness, and Ben answered that it was right nice work too, old man—or something like that—and Kurt slapped his face. It was an openhanded slap; you could hear the smack of it, for everything had gone dead still. And it was a hard-enough slap to knock Ben into the water.

"Kurt didn't watch to see if Ben could get out or did get out, he just took my arm and we went up the steps, through the veranda and lounge and out to the car, and he took me home, his face stern.

"I had felt sure that Kurt would know that Ben was being only silly—but pretty soon I began to seethe. I remembered what I had seen down on that same pier between him and Valley only a few nights before . . ."

"What about Dr. Tom?" he asked. "I suppose there was talk about what happened at the club, about Kurt's slapping Ben—and if the old man had taken a position on that earlier trouble with the boy . . ."

"Oh," said Nan quickly, "I'm sure there's nothing in that line of thought, Garde.

"But I suppose the town did talk. I don't really know, because I didn't leave the house. I'd caught a little cold, and I—well—I felt as if I had a dozen things wrong with me. The cold gave me an excuse to stay in my room. I didn't go to church on Sunday morning, and Monday was a holiday—it rained all that day.

"Besides, I had decided that I must break my engagement to Kurt. I knew that he loved Valley, and—"

"Did you love him, Nan?" He had never questioned whether Kurt Lillard loved Nan, or why. He only would have asked how the man could have preferred another girl. . . .

• • •

NAN answered him soberly and thoughtfully. "I loved him—in my way, Garde. He's older, you know, and I admired him, oh, tremendously."

"What did you mean about 'your way of love'?"

"Oh, you know, Garde. Hope chests and babies—delphinium on the dinner table . . ."

He heard the deep sigh which Nan drew.

"Then—only three days later—it was on Tuesday—Ben was found dead on the pier, just about where Kurt had slapped him.

"At the trial, Kurt said that he'd driven into the club grounds that night, and just as he did he heard a shot from down on the pier. He went down and found a man lying there, with a cut throat. Being a doctor, it didn't occur to him not to examine him, and he found out at once that it was Ben and that he was—dead.

"At the inquest—or maybe it was at the hearing—Valley said she too had heard the shot. That she'd been coming down across your yard toward the pier—and she heard it."

UNSCHEDULED EVENTS

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)— Twelve-year-old Johnny Grove was one of 185 boys here who went to Washington to take part in a Safety Patrol parade. He visited the capitol, climbed the stairs to the top of the Washington monument and saw all the sights. His father, Dr. John P. Grove, asked what he enjoyed most.

"The pillow fights," was the reply.

4-H Club Activities

The South East Scotts 4-H club met June 27 at the home of Pete Peterson. Rosemary Reardon presided at the meeting.

The project tour and a swimming party were discussed. A talk on rabbits was given by Gordon Spencer. Rosemary Reardon reported on wild animals. Joey Reardon told of cattle disease, and Dennis Reardon told the club how to judge a good sheep.

Rosemary Reardon gave a reading, "Fruits of the Harvest," followed by a joke told by Dennis Reardon.

Refreshments of a soft drink, potato chips, cookies and sandwiches were served by Mrs. Peterson. Games were enjoyed by the members.

The next meeting will be held out-of-doors on July 9.

MANCHESTER — The Peaceful Prairie 4-H club met June 24 at the school gymnasium to practice for the Share-The-Fun contest, which was held in Winchester June 25.

The club received an A rating and will be a representative club from Scott county participating in the sub-district contest in Pittsfield July 11.

Club members taking part were Sara Andras, Carol Ann Lawson, Carol Kelley, Clover Dobson, Peggy Reardon, Ruth Ann Hudson, Rosemary Reardon, Susan O'dell, Linda Boes, Sharon Tribble, Janet Hawkins and Patty Reardon.

CARROLLTON

The girls came by plane to Kansas City Tuesday evening and were met there by Mr. and Mrs. Howard who accompanied them here Wednesday.

Mrs. J. P. Osborn left Monday to return to her home in Alamogordo, N. M. after a visit here with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Osborn. She was accompanied home by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Osborn and Mrs. Neil Carrico who will spend ten days in Alamogordo.

LIKE OLD TIMES

EL RENO, Okla. (AP)—Fifty-six horsemen here dressed like the old U. S. Cavalry to participate in a charge against an Indian village during a ceremony.

The riders had the same equipment as the old Cavalry except for one extra detail—foam rubber saddle pads to make it easier riding.

PEEK BONUS

BEACH, N. D. (AP)— Someone who stopped at Painted Canyon, a Badlands scenic spot, not only took a look, but a $750 telescope as well.

Roy Noyes, owner of the imported instrument, said the thief used a hacksaw to sever it from its base in a stone wall.

EARLY STARTER

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)— "Joe Bibby for Mayor in 1965," the ads say.

Bibby, 34, an insurance man, inserts the advertisement in Dallas newspapers once a week.

"Eight years from now—when I'm older and smarter—I want to run for the mayor's post," Bibby said.

He estimates the ads will cost him $3,200 in eight years. Friends have put up most of the money thus far.

Columbus discovered some unusually deep waters off the northern coast of Honduras. And that is how the Central American nation got its name, for Honduras means "The Depths."

ICC Authorizes Boost In Phone Service Charges

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Commerce Commission today authorized increases in service connection and other nonrecurring charges for General Telephone Co. of Illinois, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Illinois Consolidated Telephone Co.

Only those customers requiring new service or rearrangement of existing service will be affected by the boosts, the commission said.

Illinois Power Co. was authorized to construct a $600,000 propane-air gas production plant in Champaign, which the firm expected to construct before the next heating season.

The firm said the plant would provide emergency supplies of gas in the area if there were a failure in the supply from Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

In other ruling the commission:

Suspended the application of the Railway Express Co., Inc., for a 10.66 per cent increase in rates for Joliet, Chicago and other territory east of the Illinois River.

Dismissed a petition from Ozark Air Lines, Inc. for permission to discontinue flights between Decatur, Mattoon and Charleston and between Charleston, Mattoon and Decatur.

Authorized Aurora City Lines, Inc. to conduct a 60 day experimental revised operation of its Downer route.

Authorized Chicago Great Western Railway Co., to install automatic flashing light signals at its crossing of Main street in Myrtle.

The commission was asked by Illini Airlines, Inc. to authorize increased fares between Rockford and Chicago; discontinue service between Sterling and Rockford and Freeport and Rockford; and decrease service from Rockford to Chicago.

Pretty Daughter Smart Politics Or A 'Gimmick?'

WASHINGTON (AP)—When a cute Chicago lass helps her congressman father run for re-election by dishing out hearty handshakes is she a "gimmick" or smart political strategy?

Pretty Pat Byrne, 23, daughter of Rep. Byrne, a Republican from Chicago's South Side, looked at it this way:

"My father's opponent was handing out cups of coffee. Somebody said my father was practicing economy and handing out daughters instead of coffee."

Rep. Price (D-Ill) disapproved, however, of "the emphasis on gimmicks."

Last fall, Pat accompanied her father most mornings to an elevated train station in his district to join him in a little handshaking.

Rep. Nimtz (R-Ind) okayed the tactics. He was so impressed that he mentioned Byrne's use of his attractive daughter to a recent young Republican's national convention in Washington.

Rep. Price got wind of Nimtz's remarks in renewing Democratic charges that the Republicans tend to employ Madison Ave. advertising techniques in their campaigns, he told the house:

"The emphasis is on gimmicks and the 'best' gimmicks at that."

As an example he said:

"One gentleman from Illinois found it useful to take along on handshaking tours his good looking daughter."

Pat, one of Rep. Byrne's six daughters, freely admitted she used to get up at 6 o'clock and go down to the train station. In fact, she seemed more amused that angered at Price's remarks.

And as far as Nimtz is concerned he said he can't see much wrong with including a girl in campaign strategy.

Retired Man Now Cupid's Helper

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—A 60-year-old service station attendant has retired here to make a living helping couples get married.

Fred Daniels attracts couple with a sign that reads: "Information. Marry, marry. Marriage-lake road-fishing."

In this Bryan County city next to the Texas line, thousands of couples from out of state, mostly Texas, come each year to get married.

He tells them how to get blood tests, a license and a judge. As for his sign, he said he added the lake and fishing as an after thought in case anyone was looking for them.

Cupid's helper doesn't charge, but he makes his living from tips. "When you get a couple on the way to get married, you find them in a most generous mood," he chuckled. "If they won't tip you then you'd never get a nickel out of them."

TIPS FROM TOP — Willie Mays took some time off from batting practice to take a close look at Stan Musial's batting grip. Between the two of them, they probably came up with some correct ideas on technique. Musial, the Man of the St. Louis Cardinals, is after his seventh batting title. Mays is having one of his big years although his Giants are not.

Redlegs, Braves Land Six Players Apiece On All-Star Roster

CINCINNATI (AP)— Every team in the National League will be represented on its All-Star club which will play the American Leaguers in St. Louis next Tuesday, but Cincinnati and Milwaukee top them all with six players each.

The 1956 pennant - winning Brooklyn Dodgers will have only 3 men on the 25-main roster, and they were chosen by their own manager, Walter Alston, who will manage the National League All-Stars. The fans, who elected the starting team, with the exception of the pitchers, bypassed the Dodgers.

St. Louis will be represented by four players, headed by the great Stan Musial, who will start at first base. New York will have two players, Philadelphia two, and Pittsburgh and Chicago one each.

After baseball commissioner Ford Frick eliminated three Cincinnati players from the starting lineup, when it became apparent that the heavy poll in the Queen City would put too many Redlegs afield, the fan vote put these men on the starting team:

To those Alston, the National League manager by virtue of his Brooklyn team winning the pennant last year, added:

Pitchers John Antonnelli, New York; Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn, both of Milwaukee; Larry Jackson, St. Louis; Clem Labine of Brooklyn; and Jack Sanford and Curt Simmons of Philadelphia.

Catchers Hank Foiles of Pittsburgh and Hal Smith of St. Louis.

Infielders Ernie Banks of Chicago; Gil Hodges, Brooklyn; Johnny Logan, Eddie Mathews and Red Schoendienst, all of Milwaukee.

Outfielders, Gus Bell, Cincinnati; Gino Cimoli, Brooklyn, and Wally Moon, St. Louis.

Musial, playing exceptionally fine baseball this season, will be in his 14th All-Star game.

Spahn, the Braves' fine veteran, who has been in eight other All-Star games, may be the starting pitcher for the National Leaguers Antonelli of the Giants, however, has been burning up the league recently with his southpaw stuff, and seems certain of getting in the game.

BASILIO-ROBINSON BOUT TO BE HELD SEPT. 23 AT STADIUM

NEW YORK (AP)— The middleweight title fight between middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and welterweight king Carmen Basilio will be held at Yankee Stadium, Monday, Sept. 23.

The announcement of the date and site was made Wednesday by James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club.

Norris said no decision has been made yet on whether the 15-round fight will be televised into the homes or to theaters.

Hank Bauer Sues Club Patron For False Arrest

NEW YORK (AP)— Hank Bauer Wednesday sued Edwin Jones for $150,000 for false arrest and malicious prosecution in the famed New York Yankee night club mixup.

The suit was filed in New York Supreme Court, and asked $100,000 damages for false arrest and $50,000 for malicious prosecution.

The Yankee outfielder based his suit on the fact the New York grand jury refused to indict him after a civil arrest brought by Jones, a delicatessen owner, June 24.

Bauer and a group of Yankee players were celebrating Billy Martin's birthday at the club May 16, when a disturbance erupted and Jones claimed Bauer hit him.

Bauer told reporters Wednesday that he never hit anyone, and said the Jones suit caused him a lot of damage.

"On road trips fans made nasty remarks at me," said Bauer.

"I was booked, fingerprinted and walked down the street with a detective and it made me feel like a criminal."

Mossi Hurls 6-0 Win For Indians Against Detroit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Southpaw Don Mossi of the Cleveland Indians pitched the first shutout of his major league career Wednesday, holding the Detroit Tigers to six hits for a 6-0 victory.

The 27-year-old former relief ace walked only four in winning his sixth game against two defeats.

It moved Cleveland back into third place in the American League, a half-game ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who lost to New York.

The Indians rapped nine hits, including a homer by Chico Carrasquel, as they pinned a seventh defeat on Duke Maas, evening his record.

2 Scots Equal Course Record To Share Open Lead

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, (AP)— Eric Brown, one - time Scottish railway fireman who called St. Andrews hallowed Old Course a "dirt-track," scored 10 threes in a brilliant 67 Wednesday to tie Laurie Ayton for the lead in the British Open Golf Championship.

Ayton and Brown, fellow Scotsmen, finished the opening round in the rain shortly after Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., came home in a lusty wind with a par 72 which left him in a strong challenging position.

Middlecoff's round, completed in 3 hours 18 minutes, blew up a controversy with four players who were behind him.

They shouted at the 1949 and 1956 American Open Champion, waved their clubs at him and trooped into the Royal and Ancient clubhouse to officially protest at the "slow play."

The R. and A. sided with Middlecoff and announced the American played in "reasonable time and no action was called for."

It was learned that the R. and A. unofficially suggested that Middlecoff please speed it up a bit. Several R. and A. championship committeemen later passed the word around that at least 14 other players in the 96-man field took more than 3 hours and 20 minutes for their golf. Frank Stranahan was second lowest among four Americans who qualified. The Toledo millionaire's son had a 74; Gene Andrews, Pacific Palisades, Calif., amateur, a 78; and Frank Keck of Champaign, Ill., an Air Force Lieutenant stationed in Germany, had an 83.

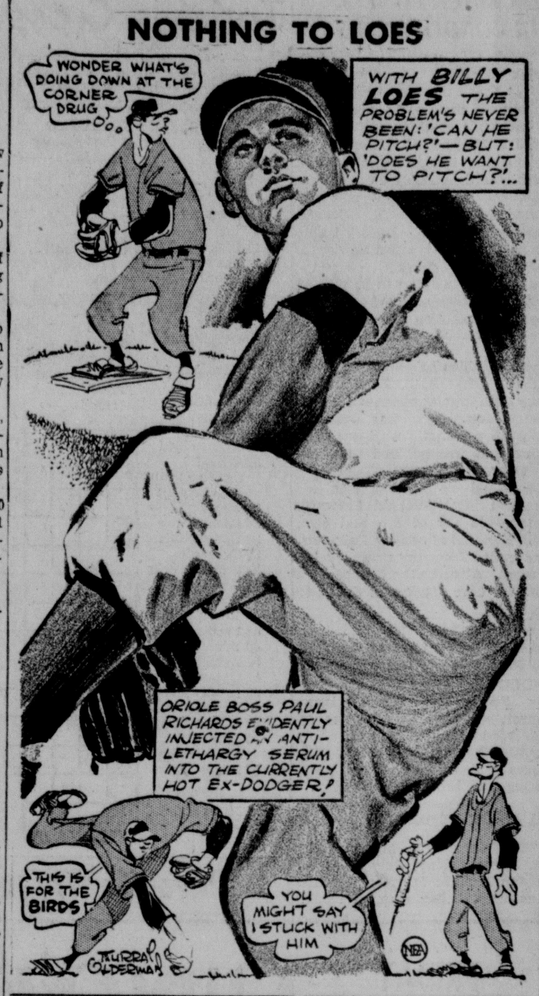
Keck, in a backhanded sort of way, made himself one of the most famous men on St. Andrews.

He took a 10 on the 14th hole when he drove into a vicious network of bunkers called "the heardies." He excavated four times with a wedge before getting out.

Ranked behind the two leaders was Bruce Crampton, 22-year-old Australian Open champion. He had a 68—five strokes better than his countryman, defending champion Peter Thomson.

Bracketed at 69 were Bobby Locke, South African who has won the British Open three times, and an English trio of Jimmy Hitchcock, K. A. MacDonald and Norman Sutton.

Cuba was named for an Indian village Cubanacan. Emissaries of Columbus visited the village in 1942 while searching for the Kublai Khan in the belief that Cuba was part of Asia.



White Sox Fall Three Games Off Pace With 5-0 Loss To Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Chicago White Sox were shut out 5 - 0 Wednesday by the Kansas City Athletics and fell three games behind the New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase.

Virgil Trucks got credit for the victory although Tom Morgan came in in the sixth with the bases loaded and one out to preserve the big righthander's shutout and his seventh victory against a single loss. Dick Donovan, who started for Chicago lost his third game in 11 decisions.

Billy Hunter's home run in the second inning was enough to give the A's their second victory in a row.

Donovan left after five innings during which he was tagged for six hits and four runs, three of them earned.

The A's lost the services of Billy Martin in the first inning when he was hit on the left wrist by a pitched ball. He was taken to a hospital for an X-ray. The picture indicated no fracture. Martin is expected to return to the lineup within a few days.

NO LUCK WITH MINNOWS

SCOTTSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Don't tell Rance Hazelip that fishing is a relaxing sport.

He spent most of a day seining minnows to use as bait, then dumped the minnows into a small goldfish pool for safekeeping.

The next day Hazelip found all but two or three minnows gone—someone had been to the pool ahead of him.

Hazelip sallied forth to the creek again, got his minnow bucket full, and picked it up. Out dropped the bottom, and into the creek went the minnows again.

Hazelip went home.

NEW YORK (AP)—The result of the balloting made the National League All-Star team look as if it was daubed with red paint, but instead of putting the blast on Cincinnati Redleg fans for their favoritism in electing their players to the starting lineup maybe they rate a pat on the back.

If other clubs commanded such loyalty they might have at least given their players an equal chance to be selected, as the Redleg followers were doing nothing illegal. Other clubs had the same chance, but their fans were too apathetic to take the trouble to send in their choices.

Cincinnati supporters, who include scads living in West Virginia and Kentucky as well as Ohio, with a little prodding from the press and radio were simply taking advantage of a weakness in the system of selecting the team.

As it is, the poll smacks of a popularity contest to name Miss Dill Pickle of 1957.

Naturally an All-Star team is supposed to be chosen on merit.

Coming right down to it Commissioner Ford Frick really had no right to remove Cincinnati's Gus Bell and Wally Post from the starting lineup and replace them with the Braves' Hank Aaron and the Giants' Willie Mays.

If the teams are to be elected by popular vote of the fans that vote should be recognized. Frick's refusal to recognize it is an admission that the system is cockeyed. What good is the vote if someone in authority can change it?

This is the second year in a row the Cincinnati fans have shamed the fans of other towns by their loyalty to the club. Last year they voted six men to the team.

Something will have to be done to make the All-Star teams really All-Star teams, instead of one-club teams.

We believe the best bet would be to have the managers pick the squads. If they were tempted to be partial they would be fearful of the reaction of the fans, and other managers, and would lean over backward to be fair. That's better than falling on your face, anyway.

Orioles Defeat Senators 8-3

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles clipped rookie Jim Heise for five runs in the second inning and coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Washington Senators Wednesday night in a loosely played game.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's 6-0 loss to Cleveland, moved the Orioles to within a half-game of the fifth place Tigers.

Evacuees Return As River Makes Surprise Drop

ST. LOUIS (AP)—After an unexpected two-foot drop in the flooding Meramec River, Valley Park residents began returning to their homes today.

The river crested at 32 feet Tuesday in the Valley Park-Times Beach area in south St. Louis County. Flood stage is 16 feet.

Water which had been four feet high in the Valley Park business district was today down to from 6 to 14 inches.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said portions of U.S. 66 were still under water but might be open to general traffic by Friday. The patrol said other blocked highways might be clear late today.

Arthur A. Rausch, assistant meteorologist at the Weather Bureau, predicted the river would be below 20 feet by Friday. A falling Mississippi River helped drain the Meramec basin.

Paul Bernard, county agriculture agent, said farmers stand to lose about half their annual estimated income of $4,000,000 from the flood. He said the corn crop was hardest hit.

No rain is predicted for the next several days.

Redleg Manager, Coach Fined $50

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redleg general manager Gabe Paul Wednesday night blasted at umpire Frank Dascoli after receiving word that manager Birdie Tebbetts and coach Tom Ferrick of the Reds each had been fined $50 for a run-in with Dascoli in Chicago Tuesday.

Paul first called Dascoli a "fine umpire" in a written statement and then added:

"However, his great ability has been dissipated by his penchant for looking for trouble and by becoming the aggressor in disputes.

"Any person who looks for trouble usually finds it. For that reason, it is hoped that Dascoli simmers down, makes his decisions without belligerency and leaves the aggressiveness to the ball players."

The fining of Tebbetts and Ferrick by National League President Warren Giles stemmed from a disputed play in the seventh inning of Tuesday's Redleg-Chicago game. With one out and a man on third, Ernie Banks forced Walt Moryn but was called safe at first as the Reds tried to complete a double play.

The runner at third scored and Tebbetts and Ferrick were ejected from the game for protesting the call that Banks was safe at first.

Ennis' 2-Run Single In 7th Gives Cards 5-4 Win Over Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—A two-run single by veteran Del Ennis in the seventh inning Wednesday cracked a tie game and propelled the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Cardinals' Larry Jackson, wrapped up his 10th triumph but had to have help from knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth after the Cubs scored a run on Chuck Tanner's double and Walt Moryn's single.

The Cubs bunched three of their total six hits off Jackson in the fourth for three runs and a 3-2 lead. The big blows were Moryn's homer and Dale Long's homer that scored Ernie Banks, who had walked, ahead of him.

The Cardinals, in gaining second place, wrapped up their fourth straight triumph in the seventh in knocking out Tom Poholsky and handing him his fourth loss against one victory.

Hoad And Cooper Of Australia Gain Singles Finals

By TOM OCHILTREE

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tennis slugger Lew Hoad defeated Sweden's gallant Sven Davidson, and Ashley Cooper outlasted Neale Fraser Wednesday setting up an all-Australian men's singles final at Wimbledon for the second straight year.

Defending champion Hoad served, volleyed and drove Davidson to defeat in one semifinal, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Cooper — tall, dark and handsome — knocked off fellow Aussie Fraser, 1-6, 14-12, 6-3, 8-6, in a match that seemed as long as a day in the dentist's chair.

Hoad and Cooper will meet Friday for the title that blond 23-year old Hoad now holds — the crown — generally recognized as tops in the amateur tennis world.

America's Don Budge was the last player to put Wimbledon semifinal for the first time in 30 years, his nieces were preparing for an almost all-American show in the women's singles on the Fourth of July. Three of the four women's semifinalists are Yanks.

Top-seeded Althea Gibson of New York plays the 6-foot, 16-year-old British amazon, Christine Truman, sensation of the tournament so far, while Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., seeded fourth, meets Darlene Hard, the Montebello, Calif., waitress, seeded fifth.

The day's biggest upset occurred in the mixed doubles where the top-seeded team of Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., was knocked out by the picked up team of Luis Ayala of Chile and Thelma Long of Australia 9-7, 1-6, 6-3.

The top-seeded women's doubles team of Misses Gibson and Hard easily smashed into the semifinals by trouncing Angela Mortimer and Pat Hird of Britain's Wightman cup team 6-3, 6-0.

Another American tandem, Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., and Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., bowed in the third round to two pert Mexicans, Yola Ramirez and Rosa Maria Reyes, 8-6, 6-3.

Yogi Berra Accounts For 8 RBI's As Yanks Clobber Boston, 10-0

NEW YORK, (AP) — Yogi Berra drove home eight runs and Bob Turley struck out 11 batters as the league-leading New York Yankees thrashed the Boston Red Sox 10-0 Wednesday for their seventh successive triumph.

The squad catcher, back in his old slugging groove, smashed a home run and two singles as the Yankees pounded Tom Brewer and George Susce for 8 of their 10 hits in the first three innings to open up a 9-0 lead.

Turley, pitching his third straight strong game, permitted the Red Sox only three singles, none after the third inning, as he recorded his fourth victory against two defeats. The strong-armed righthander, still pitching without a windup, issued only three walks and hit a batter as he registered his second shutout.

Ted Williams, with a single in the first, Jackie Jensen with another single in the second and Piersall with a safe bunt in the third were the only Red Sox to connect safely off Turley.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—The corporate bond market closed higher on average Wednesday, despite an easing from the best gains of the day. Trading slackened near the close as a pre - holiday lethargy set in.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower in light transactions over-the-counter. Losses ranged out to ¼ of a point but the market was very thin and dealers said few bonds changed hands.

In the corporate list, rails and utilities advanced while industrials and investment quality issues eased. Convertibles were mostly higher with some gains out to $8 and more.

Trading volume was $4,920,000 par value on the Big Board, down slightly from $5,280,000 Tuesday.

SELLING PUSHES WHEAT PRICES DOWN

CHICAGO, (AP)— Indications that farmers might do some catching up on their long delayed harvest in the next few days caused selling which pushed wheat prices down more than two cents in some instances Wednesday on the Board of Trade.

Corn was firm, oats held mixed and about steady, and soybeans advanced on buying influenced by a private forecast indicating a smaller soybean crop than traders had expected.

New style wheat closed 1½ to 2⅝ lower, corn ⅜ to ⅝ higher, oats ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, rye unchanged to ½ off, soybeans 1⅛ higher to ¼ lower, and lard 13 cents a hundred pounds lower to 2 cents higher.

The weather was clear over the Southwest and Midwest, and the five - day forecast indicates little rainfall. Traders believe farmers can get a lot of winter wheat combining done over the holiday and over the weekend, if this weather holds. This brought some profit aking into wheat. Hedge selling also was reported.

Some early buying came after G. M. Galvin, crop forecaster for Francis I. duPont & Co., forecast winter wheat production at 679 million bushels, and spring wheat at 239 million bushels. This compared with the government's June 1 official winter wheat forecast of 735 million bushels and his own June 1 forecast of 722 million bushels.

This would be the smallest crop since 1943. The downturn was due to heavy and persistent rainfall.

Galvin's soybean forecast was considered bullish and caused bean buying. He said that based on current conditions, a crop of 425 million bushels "is suggested." Production last year was 456 million bushels. This surprised traders, since they have been talking about a possible record crop.

Galvin forecast corn production at 2,919,000,000 bushels, based on current conditions, compared with 3,451,000,000 harvested last year. This would be the smallest crop since 1947. He based his low forecast on rainfall which has seriously delayed planting in the heavy producing states of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and part of Missouri.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—The stock market had its own pre - Fourth of July celebration Wednesday, making the most vigorous rise since June 11.

That was the day after President Eisenhower's "upset stomach," and the market advanced on good news about the President's recovery.

Wednesday there was quite an assortment of bullish news items to bolster confidence. The result was that pivotal issues advanced from fractions to $3 or so.

Based on the rise in the average the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,860,000,000.

Wall Street observers said that a new test of the previous 1957 high may be in the making. Some popular market yardsticks, in fact penetrated the high.

Still a bit below the previous high, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.50 to $185.30 with the industrials up $3.50, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Volume of 2,720,000 shares compared with 2,450,000 shares Tuesday and was the highest since June 11. The gain in the AP 60-stock average also was the greatest since June 11.

Aircrafts were boosted by Senate passage of the defense spending bill which restored most of the funds cut by the House.

The recovery of corporate bonds whose previous decline has weakened investment - type stocks, brought added strength to equities.

The trend was generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 840,000 shares, compared with 740,000 Tuesday.

See Soviet Party Purge As Omen For Peace

the Soviet economy, decentralizing industry and doing a number of rational things which could not be done under Stalin nor with the resistance of Stalinists.

This can mean peace for some time to come, because in such an enormous program the Soviet Union must have peace—perhaps, as Mao Tze-tung has suggested, for at least 15 years.

By that time the face of Soviet society will have changed tremendously. The new order of younger technocrats, businessmen, managers and the like will have taken over. The revolutionaries, the old Bolsheviks, those with the memory of violent days which required violent measures, will have passed away. The U.S.S.R. will be moving toward a more stable social structure in which there will be a large stake in long-term peace.

One of the major considerations behind the shakeup must have been Khrushchev's economic program. There had been much evidence of resistance to this project from those in the Kremlin who would have considered it a long-range threat to the central power of the Communist party.

The accusation against Molotov, of having hindered the policy of "peace among peoples," carries a strong hint of things to come in Soviet foreign policy—perhaps already developing in the apparent willingness of the Soviet Union to make some concessions in international conferences.

This does not mean an end to the world political battle. It can mean, however, that when the world political battle over ideas becomes too hot and too dangerous, the Soviet Union will pull back.

In Communist countries the shakeup has big meaning. From across borders the Kremlin has heard rumblings of discontent with the old Stalinist line and there was a suggestion in this that those who hated and feared Stalinism wanted some insurance that it would not return.

The revolution in Hungary and the rebellious resistance in Poland among Communists who sought more autonomy were danger signals for the Kremlin.

In China it was clear that Mao Tze-tung and his party were aligning themselves on the side of anti-Stalinism.

Khrushchev gave plenty of indication he was willing to bend with the political hurricanes of the post-Stalin era, and that he was ready to concede there were various "roads to socialism."

He might even be able to convince Yugoslavia's Tito of this now. He never could have done it while the old Stalinists remained in the party leadership, arousing the suspicion that Stalin never was quite dead.

Chest, Red Cross Merge Campaigns; Invite Others

Jewell Mann, president of the Morgan County Community Chest and Jack Wise, president of the Morgan County Chapter of the American Red Cross have announced that the two organizations have agreed to combine their campaigns for a united appeal this fall.

Mann stated that invitations were being extended to all other organizations which conduct annual solicitations in the hope that all of them would join the Chest and Red Cross.

"It has been conclusively proven that the response to a combined campaign is better than if the campaigns are conducted individually. We hope that all organizations will join with us so that the people in Jacksonville and Morgan county will have the opportunity of giving and soliciting only one time per year."

National Debt $270 Billion At End Of June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury reported Wednesday the national debt was $270,527,171,896.43 at the end of June — windup of a fiscal year in which the government made net deposits of $81,874,970,431.52 and had withdrawals of $79,162,970,489.70.

The deposits-withdrawals figures do not mean, Treasury officials cautioned, that there was a surplus of about $2,700,000,000 for the year. The figures contain payments and disbursements into and out of the Social Security and other trust funds which do not count as budget transactions, and in addition are subject to considerable adjustment.

The Treasury said that the amount of the budget surplus will be reported when accounting is completed about July 16 or 19. Secretary Humphrey has said the surplus will be roughly one billion dollars.

The debt at the fiscal year's end amounted to $1,580.72 for each man, woman and child in the country.

This was $41.56 less per person than a year ago, partly because the debt was $2,223,641,752.89 smaller and partly because there were more of us to carry the load.

But the debt figure, shown in the daily Treasury statement issued Wednesday, is a bit deceptive. It represents the government's position as of June 28, the last business day of fiscal 1957.

And because of a new Treasury borrowing, effective Wednesday but not yet reflected in the bookkeeping, the debt already is about three billion dollars higher.

Ask U.S. Loans For Farmers In Southern Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Illinois farm officials are asking the federal government to grant emergency loans to southern Illinois farmers, kept from their fields this year by continuous bad weather.

George Ruess, Champaign, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, Wednesday said farmers in 50 southern Illinois counties face planting problems of "serious proportions."

"A survey of the area shows a number of farmers have suffered considerable crop losses because of recent heavy rains and bad weather extending back to April," Reuss said in an interview. "It's reached serious proportions."

Reuss said a letter requesting the loans would be mailed to Secretary of Agriculture Benson Friday.

If the loans are approved emergency credit would be extended to farmers, he said, who have no other source of credit and who have suffered substantial losses.

Reuss was unable to estimate the number of farmers who would be eligible for emergency loans this year, but said thousands have been unable to plant crops because of heavy rains and floods.

The loans would be for 12 to 18 months at 3 per cent interest and would be issued for purchase of production items such as seed and fertilizer. "They might also be used for subsistence," Reuss said.

Counties in the area for which aid is sought are south of the northern boundaries of Morgan, Menard, Sangamon, Christian, Shelby, Moultrie, Douglas, and Edgar.

Kremlin Fires 4 Party Leaders From High Posts

First announcements emphasized the charges against Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich.

Moscow's statement said the group worked against the decisions of the 20th Communist party Congress of February 1956, and tried "to impose wrong ideas." It accused Molotov specifically of having hindered the Soviet government's policy of "peace among peoples."

Stalin's Top Aides

Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich were oldtime right-hand men to Joseph Stalin. Malenkov was premier and party first secretary after the dictator's death. Khrushchev eased Malenkov out of the leading party position soon after Stalin's death and later was instrumental in causing Malenkov to step down as premier with a confession of inability to do the job.

The announcement was foreshadowed in angrily worded Pravda editorials. The official newspaper of the Communist party indicated the targets of the attack might even be ousted from Communist party membership. If so they could hold no important government or party positions.

Culmination Of Struggle

The development appeared to be a culmination of a struggle against Stalinist elements. It is believed Malenkov and the others rejected Khrushchev's thesis, delivered at the 20th Congress, that Stalin's rule was a despotic one which harmed the Soviet Union.

The Presidium of the party (Central Committee) from which Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich were fired, is the most powerful body in the Soviet Union. Under Stalin it was the Politburo, and he ruled it with an iron hand. After Stalin, it represented the party's new "collective leadership."

Shepilov

Shepilov, who has been an alternate—or candidate—member of the Presidium since February 1956, lost his job as one of the secretaries of the Communist party. The Secretariat is subordinate in authority only to the Presidium. Shepilov, a former editor of Pravda and a propaganda expert, was foreign minister briefly but was replaced by career diplomat Andrei Gromyko last February.

The statement said the decision to boot out these four men was a unanimous one by the Central Committee.

Confirms Suspicions

The development confirmed a suspicion long held in the West—that a desperate struggle for power continued in the Kremlin even after the collective leadership appeared to have settled its major differences with the execution of police boss Lavrenty Beria in December 1953. It is apparent the struggle over world and internal policy has gone on unremittingly.

The accusation leveled at Molotov appeared to be a highly serious one. His alleged hindering of the policy of "peace among peoples" might easily be attributed to roles he played in the Soviet Union's break with Tito of Yugoslavia in 1948 and in other measures inspired by Stalin. Up to now, Beria has been called the inventor of the Tito break.

Politburo Members

At the time of that break, Molotov and Malenkov both were members of Stalin's ruling Politburo. Malenkov was Stalin's private secretary, and Molotov was his foreign minister. Kaganovich was his industrial expert — and reported brother-in-law. He was the only Jewish member of the Politburo.

The purge is the most resounding since the execution of Beria and his alleged accomplices on charges of having been spies for "imperialist" Americans.

The Beria case was mentioned Wednesday in Pravda's blasts against those attempting to run counter to "Marxism-Leninism." Thus, this purge may yet reach down far into the party ranks.

Pravda Warned

Pravda warned no Communist could expect to retain his post—no matter how big he might be—if he was hostile to Leninism or the decisions of the 20th Congress. It cited Lenin as the authority for purging those who "disregard the will of the party and its interests or oppose its line."

Pravda warned that the party could not become a "debating club," under the guise of freedom of expression or criticism.

It warned against "the cult of personality," which is how Khrushchev and his supporters describe a Stalin-like, one-man rule. It said party discipline must be the same for high and low alike. It said the party "does not tolerate within its ranks, nor can it tolerate, any antiparty groups or groupings opposed to its policy."

The news of the dismissals was broadcast first by Moscow radio's guage transmissions.

RECONSIDERATION OF PASSPORT DENIAL TO STEWART ORDERED

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The State Department was ordered Wednesday by the U. S. Court of Appeals to reconsider its refusal of a passport to writer Donald Ogden Stewart.

The author and playwright was denied a passport because he refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist. He did tell the department he had no Communist connections in the past 15 years.

Stewart has lived in England since 1950 and wanted a passport to travel on the European continent. The department said it would give him one good only for return to the United States.

Five of the nine appeals court judges voted to send the case back to the State Department for consideration on its merits.

The court majority said the State Department can take into consideration Stewart's sworn statement that he had no Red ties for at least 15 years "and to draw such inferences as are proper to be drawn from such a limited negative statement."

Stewart once was a top Hollywood screen writer. He wrote the screen adaptations of such films as "Life With Father," "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," and "Kitty Foyle."

3. He regards it as "unhelpful" to Middle Eastern peace for the Russians to send submarines to Egypt, as they have done recently.

VANDALIA POLICE SHOOT, CAPTURE MAN IN GUNFIGHT

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)— Jackson Warner, 45-year-old Vandalia laborer, was wounded and captured after an exchange of shots with several law enforcement officers Tuesday at his home.

After treatment for a shattered left arm at a hospital here, Warner was taken to the State hospital at Alton by order of Fayette County Judge George Kelley.

Officers were summoned to Warner's home after they were told he had threatened members of his family. He fired three shots with a 16 gauge shotgun before he was overpowered. Officers said two of the shots were directed at Sheriff Dave Waltz and Deputy John Kirkham.

Woman, 60, Two Linemen Nail Fleeing Burglar

CHICAGO, (AP)—A 60-year - old grandmother, aided by two telephone company employes, nailed a fleeing burglar Wednesday after a seven-block chase.

"I couldn't have done it if I hadn't been so mad," Mrs. Margaret Hill told police after they seized John Amato, 63.

Mrs. Hill told police this is what happened:

She was talking on the telephone in her daughter's apartment when she saw a strange man tiptoe from a bedroom and start for the front door.

"What are you doing here?" she cried.

"I'm looking for John Smith," the intruder replied. The gray-haired Mrs. Hill was not deceived.

"Lois, there's a burglar in the house," she shouted to her daughter in the kitchen as the man disappeared.

Mrs. Hill gave chase. So did several neighborhood children in front of the apartment building. After several blocks of sprinting, Mrs. Hill saw two telephone linemen working on a pole.

"Catch him," she shouted. A few blocks later lineman C. John Curley, 24, and Dale Thurman, 22, grabbed the man identified as Amato, a baker with a police record. Mrs. Hill and about 40 hooting children were close behind.

Amato turned over to police $25 and two watches they said were taken from the apartment of Mrs. Hill's daughter. Amato was held without charge for questioning.

Mrs. Hill returned to her daughter's apartment after Amato's capture, rested briefly and then left, saying:

"Well, I've got to go do my shopping."

Dr. Vincent T. J. Lenth, recently appointed Director of Civil Defense and Disaster, met with the newly appointed steering committee which will direct the civil defense organization in this city, for the first time Wednesday evening.

Dr. Lenth began the work of the committee by first making some needed appointments. Those appointments made were first deputy director, Wilfrid Rice; second deputy director, Byron Holkenbrink; Red Cross director, Jack Wise; CAP director, John Linebaugh; transportation director, Walter Hamilton; County health director, Dr. Charles Chapman; Morgan County Medical Society director, Dr. Thomas Auner and communications directors, Barney Lewis and Larry Bottomley. Other members will be appointed as needed.

Dr. Lenth stated that several services had offered to cooperate with the organization. He listed them as the Morgan County Red Cross, the WLDS radio station, the Morgan County Health Department and the local Army Reserve unit.

The committee and sub-committees are still in the process of being formed and are in need of capable members to fill responsible positions. Dr. Lenth said that he would welcome any and all help from any interested parties. Any one interested may call at his home or contact him by mailing a postcard to him.

"The success of this venture depends," he said, "on the amount of cooperation and public interest that we can enlist."

Ladies who attended the 15th Orientation Class for new Volunteers at the Jacksonville State Hospital were much impressed with the program given by members of the Professional Staff.

Louis Belinson, M. D., Superintendent, greeted the group and spoke on the "Aims and Philosophy of Our Hospital." He said "Our Creed: We are ever ready to give sanctuary and offer asylum to troubled human beings, helping them to understand themselves and reorganize their resources for a triumphant return to the daily adventures of living. You, as Volunteers, can help provide "plus services" while the patient is here, assist in the community adjustment of the patient, and to educate the community to good mental health. The patients need sociotherapy. They need outside contact and to socialize."

Dr. Belinson further stated, "many representatives come from various organizations, veteran groups, Red Cross, Mental Hygiene Society, church groups, and civic clubs. Others come as individual volunteers. They do not lose their identity. The Volunteer Service Department is to coordinate such activities. We are all here for the benefit of the patient."

Walter Gant, Chief of Social Service spoke about "The Community and Patients." He told how the patients are placed on family care, in nursing homes and how the community can help.

Mrs. Imogene Ogle, Admissions Clerk, told "How Patients are Admitted" and Mrs. Pearle Bernhart, R. N. took the group on a tour of a receiving ward.

Otto P. Berdach, M. D., Clinical Director explained the "Treatment Program."

Mrs. Ruby Hembrough, Staff Psychologist, discussed "Psychological Factors Involved in Human Behavior" and Roy Wright, R. N., "Nursing Service." Mr. Wright called on Mrs. Floy Leffler, Psychiatric Aide to tell about a typical day on a ward.

A musical program by Hospital Artists was presented by the Recreation Department under the direction of Mrs. Alta Eisch and George Winston.

The program is directed to give the new Volunteers an overall picture.

The new Volunteer Service Manuals were presented by the Supervisor of Volunteer Services, Mrs. Mary Cohen. The new Volunteers will return on their chosen day for a tour of the hospital, a discussion of hospital ethics, and a training assignment.

The hospital periodically presents In-Service Training programs for all the Volunteers to further their understanding of mental illness.

Wheat Quality, Yield Very Poor This Year

Weather permitting, most of the farmers in this area will spend the Fourth in the wheat field. This year's crop is poor and combining is about half completed.

Farmers are reporting a great difference, both in yield and quality, this season as compared with last.

Last year the wheat was especially good, grading No. 1 in quality with test weights up to 65 pounds per bushel, and with the yield hitting an all time high average of 44 bushels to the acre in Morgan county. Last year many fields ran over 60 bushels to the acre.

Far Different

It's a far different story this year. Most sections are reporting the average yield will be about 25 bushels or less per acre. The quality is very poor, with most of it grading No. 4. Test weights are running about 55 pounds to the bushel. Most of the grain coming in now is dry enough, with moisture at 12%.

This year's wheat crop never had a chance to do well. Nearly all of it was planted in very dry soil—mostly dust—last September and early October. Some of it managed to sprout, only to perish for want of moisture. Late in October, too late for best results, some rains hit the fields and the seeds that had laid in the dust sprouted. This made for thin and very spotty stands.

Hit By Diseases

The rainy weather of the spring brought better growth, but it also brought every known type of wheat disease. Plant pathologists said that "some varieties of scab and rust we hadn't seen for years—and had practically forgotten about—came back in abundance this season, in addition to all of the regular diseases."

Elevators were paying about $1.90 a bushel for the wheat coming in Wednesday.

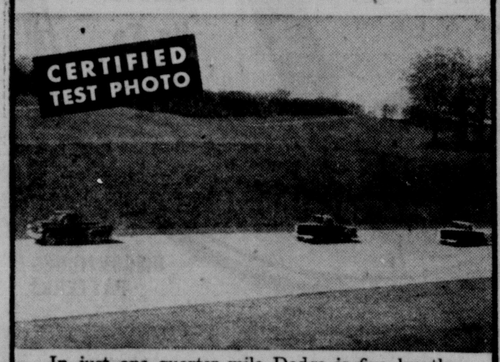
DODGE TRUCKS most powerful of low-priced 3

Dodge matches reserve power against truck "C" and truck "F" in this test for safer passing ability. All three are comparably equipped and loaded with 1000 lbs. A skilled test driver is behind each wheel. Here's the flag, they're off!

Dodge takes an early lead and at 30 m.p.h. is widening the gap. Truck "C" and truck "F" are straining to deliver their peak performance. But that Dodge 204-hp. V-8 keeps gaining easily. Its added power means less wear, fewer repairs, too.



In just one quarter mile Dodge is five lengths ahead of truck "C", seven lengths out front of truck "F". And this is but one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding value of the low-priced three.

● Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in . . . see other certified test-photo sequences . . . and take a demonstration ride!

Northminster Ladies Guild Program On Asia

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Evening Guild of Northminster Presbyterian church was held June 3 in the Fellowship House on the church grounds. Mrs. Bernadine DeFreitas, president, opened the meeting with prayer and scripture reading.

In the absence of the secretary Mary Vieira, the president, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Laura Birdsell was appointed recording secretary, pro tem for the summer.

Following the treasurer's report, and reports from various committee chairmen, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mary Lou Horton, who presented Mrs. Bernard Jeffries.

Mrs. Jeffries presented a very interesting narrative with a film on Southeast Asia, which showed problems of industry and agriculture. Also mission work in the Far East. A general discussion was held following the film with many suggestions given as to the advisability of continuing the Mission work in the Far East.

Following the program a white elephant sale was held with Frances Bodensieck serving as auctioneer.

At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served by Betty DeFrates and Mari Shannon.

INFLATIONARY NOTE

CORN, Okla. (AP)— Four-year-old Ernie Koop decided he'd venture downtown and took a handful of dimes his parents had been saving for him.

When his parents finally found him, the dimes were gone. Ernie had been having the best fun putting them into penny weighing machine slots and other vending machines.

POKER GAME

MIDNIGHT, Miss. (AP) — This small town in Mississippi's agricultural Delta was named for the hour it was won in a poker game.

Around the turn of the century, pioneer land owners would take time out from clearing the land and relax over a poker game.

One of the land owners bet and lost all of his cleared land and the game broke up. The new owner glanced at his watch and announced he would name his land "Midnight."

CLOVER TIP

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Harry Huffman says she's found the secret of growing four-leaf clovers.

"If you let four-leaf clover go to seed, the seed just produces three-leaf clovers," Mrs. Huffman claims. "However, if you pick the blossoms, the plants spread their roots and up come new four-leaf plants."

She has a bed of four-leaf clovers about 15 feet long.

SAVED THEIR PENNIES—Richard D. Gamma, 21, and Elva Mae Cox, his 18-year-old fiancee, have literally been saving their pennies in order to buy a marriage license. Over a period of 7 months and 27 days they amassed 363 pennies. The license cost $3.60, so they paid the clerk, right, at the Little Rock, Ark., courthouse for the license and used the extra three cents for the parking meter.

SHATTERING EXPERIENCE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The honesty of a Cub Scout turned out to be the best policy for his parents.

Harry Martin of Huntington found this note on his front door: "My name is Rocky Harris. I live at 2926 Chase street. My phone is 22281. I broke your window with a ball. I will pay for it."

Martin refused an offer from the Harrises to replace the glass, saying, "This note is worth more to me than the window."

LIQUOR QUICKER

CINCINNATI (AP) — A "highball" is a better remedy for nervous tension than the new tranquilizer drugs, a Cincinnati psychiatrist says.

Dr. Warren Richards warns that self-medication with the new drugs can be harmful and asserts that a moderate amount of alcohol is preferable for temporary relief from nervous tension and anxiety.
